
Focus on Your Plate

Make healthy eating easy with something you use every day: your plate! The “plate method” is a practical way to get the balanced nutrition that you need every day.

Pro Tip!

Use a 9-inch plate to help make portion control easier.

Fruit

All fruit counts: fresh, frozen, canned, or dried. Drain and rinse canned fruit. Watch portion sizes on dried fruit.

Non-Starchy Vegetables

Vegetables may be raw, cooked, fresh, frozen, or canned. Drain and rinse canned vegetables.

Dairy

Choose products made from nonfat or low-fat milk. If you cannot have milk, you may choose yogurt or milk alternatives (i.e. soy milk).

Bread, Grains, and Starchy Vegetables

Any grain or food made from a grain (i.e. wheat, rice, oats, corn) is a grain product.

Starchy vegetables include potatoes, winter squash, beans, and peas.

Protein

Protein foods include meat, poultry, seafood, beans, peas, eggs, soy, nuts, and seeds. Low-fat cheese and Greek yogurt can also be used for protein.

Lean proteins include seafood, skinless poultry, extra lean ground meat, and meat with little marbling.
